AN AWARD WINNING CITY

The Triple Crown

On May 15, 1991, the Environmental Protection Agency acknowledged Newark's innovative recycling program with the Region Two Environmental Quality Administrator's Award at a Washington, D.C. ceremony.

On June 8, 1991, at the All-America City banquet in San Antonio Texas, former Hawaii Governor William F. Quinn, foreman of the contest Jury, announced Newark as a winning city due to effective community efforts to address civic problems. Newark was recognized as one of ten models demonstrating "the very best problem-solving among America's cities and towns."

On June 17, 1991 at the United States Conference of Mayors meeting in San Diego, Newark was honored with the City Livability Award. The award recognizes mayors and cities that have made significant progress in enhancing livability through the development of urban programs.

Congratulations, Newark!

"In New Jersey, Newark residents devised plans to revitalize the downtown area and thus restore the neighborhoods ... The central theme of the All-America story is the unlimited power and promise of voluntary service to others." President George Bush.

"Being selected as an All-America City is a national recognition of our city's revitalization. It is a tribute to the people of Newark. Our residents, corporate citizens, and civic activists have banded together and worked diligently to breathe life back into our city." Newark Mayor Sharpe James.

"It is, in fact, an honor not only for the Mayor and City Council, but for all citizens of Newark. The award recognizes the great potential of the City of Newark." Newark City Council President Donald M. Tucker.

"The National Civic League salutes your dedication to innovative collaborative solutions to community problems. The 1991 All-America City Award Program was a tremendous success due to the quality of the 97 applicants and the strong community spirit of the winning communities." Chairman Henry Cisneros, National Civic League.

"The (All America City) Jury was deeply impressed with the quality, variety, and impact of Newark's community focused initiatives and with the leadership demonstrated not only by your dynamic Mayor but by the citizens and the business community." Lenneal J. Henderson, Ph.D, Distinguished Professor of Government/Public Administration, University of Baltimore.

"Congratulations on winning the very prestigious all-America City Award. Knowing how tough the competition really is, we in Oregon are impressed with your success." Bill Morri Sette, Mayor, City of Springfield, Oregon.

"All-America Cities like Newark inspire us to continue pursuing excellence in city government. Heartfelt best wishes for your recent success." Sharon Preist, Mayor, City of Little Rock, Arkansas.

"Congratulations to you and your city for being named one of the 1991 All-America Cities. This is a tremendous accomplishment and a wonderful tribute to your city." Maureen G. Savage, City of Hampton, Virginia.

"Congratulations on Newark securing the prestigious 1991 All-America City Award. It is a great honor and you should be commended on your winning activities." James M. Rochford, Rochford & Associates, Peoria, Illinois.

"Congratulations on your work leading to All-America City recognition. Good show, Newark!" Joan Verplanck, President, Morris County Chamber of Commerce.

"Congratulations on your achievement! Civic involvement and civic responsibility are the necessary qualities to achieve and sustain this stature. The high level of civic commitment in your community is exemplary." Professor David L. Boggs, Ohio State University.

"Today as we stand on the threshold of the 21st century, one of the greatest chapters in Newark's history is being written ... Newark today is the object of respect and admiration as one of the premier cities in the northeast and a national leader in environmental initiatives. We have met the challenge of improving life of Newark citizens." Newark Mayor Sharpe James.
